RESEARCH CELL

ABOUT CELL

The Anand Law College's Research Cell was established with the purpose of creating a dedicated approach for inculcating and undertaking research activities and also promoting research amongst the students and faculties.

The Research Cell is responsible for the formulation of the overall guidelines related to research and publication. The cell undertakes research projects on socio legal aspect.

It aims to advance education, research and outreach in key areas. They provide a forum where knowledge and understanding of socio legal aspects can be exchanged between the academic and other legal experts. The cell conducts research and organizes seminars, conferences, development programs, moot courts, client counselling, debate competitions and other legal activities.

Research is a continuous process of discovering, analysing and deliberating upon new horizons in various fields of study. Law and legal research has an all-pervasive impact on the way decisions are taken not only in the legal world but also in governments and societies. Fostering a conducive research environment and providing a platform for dissemination of quality research in law has been a constant endeavour of the Research Cell at Anand Law College.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CELL

The Research Cell has been established with the following objectives:

- To educate faculty members and students about prospects for research and growth.
- To encourage academic members to engage in research initiatives and advance their knowledge and skills for career advancement
- Encourage students to engage in seminars, webinars, and national and international conferences in order to develop their research skills.

ANAND LAW COLLEGE, ANAND
(MANAGED BY SHRI RAMKRISHNA SEVA MANDAL)

- To motivate the teachers to organize and take part in capacity building initiatives.
- To promote research cooperation among faculty members.
- Regardless of the careers they choose to follow after graduation, all law graduates must possess the ability to do efficient legal research.
- The Research Cell wants to make sure that all law students, regardless of their academic year, have the necessary research abilities by teaching them how to find, assess, and use the required data.
- To increase the institute's research output by publishing research papers in reputable conferences and refereed publications.
- The Cell also plans to find students and professors who have a passion for research, invite them to join the Cell, and motivate them to engage in significant research projects.
- The Research Cell will make an effort to support research and fellowships in a variety of legal areas, develop prestigious research publications, and carry out research projects on current socio-legal challenges.
